Product description

Not only can you use split bamboo stakes to support your growing plants, but you can also use them for lots of creative projects.. At some point, most plants need some kind of support. At some point, most upward-growing plants will need a stake or wire for support. The plant stake guides the plant in the right direction and helps it to grow without breaking. But plant stakes aren't just for tying up and supporting young plants, as the name suggests – they can do much more. The round split bamboo sticks have found their way into the hobby world and continually surprise with their creative potential.. Put the bamboo stake next to your small plant cutting on the window sill and suddenly it has all the support it needs to grow big and strong... but a bamboo stake is never just a stick when you have creativity on your mind!
